I

If you’re great at writing kick-ass code, have an eye for design, are an excellent problem-solver and want to work at a fast-growing international startup - come and join Scoro!

YOUR RESPONSIBILITIES INCLUDE

• writing high-quality, maintainable, and efficient code to further develop the user interface and front-end of Scoro
• translating designer mock-ups and wireframes into front-end code and integrating it with the back-end while ensuring compatibility with various browsers
• working closely with the product, design, development and marketing team to improve on the UX of Scoro
• identifying and advocating the use of new front-end technologies, libraries, tools, and best practices

WE OFFER

• a job that is interesting, versatile and challenging
• a team of young, supportive and hard-working people to work with
• a chance to contribute to both business and product development
• a chance to grow your role with the company as we scale
• flexible working hours at a downtown office
• competitive health and sports benefits
• inspiring atmosphere flooded with humour, a free flow of excellent coffee, snacks and fruits, and of course - great team events

WE EXPECT YOU TO HAVE

• eye for design, good sense of UX and high attention to detail
• experience in front-end development - fluent in HTML, CSS, AJAX
• understanding of and/or experience in working with PHP
• passion for quality and an ability to solve complex UI flows
• skills to plan your own time and meet deadlines

YOU GET EXTRA POINTS FOR

• having previous experience in UI design
• back-end skills
• having a degree in IT
• being passionate about improving the way people work
